2. Employees are entitled to 21 days PL in a calendar year. The leave cycle year runs from 1st January to 31st December

3. An employee will accrue 1.75 days of PL for every completed month. The accrued PL will be credited in the leave account of the employees at the end of the salary cycle

Example: 1.75 days of monthly PL earned for the month of Feb will be credited into the account on 24th Feb

4. APL will be calculated on a pro-rated basis depending on date of joining for new employees and date of exit for departing employees
5. A monthly accrued PL of 1.75 days will be calculated on a pro-rated basis, in case an employee has more than 5 LWP in a month

Example: In case employee has 6 LWP in the month of Jan, so the total number of working days will be 24 days and the employee will accrue 1.40 days instead of 1.75 days

Calculation: 1 month will be considered as 30 days, so the calculation for 24 days is $(24 \times 1.75) / 30$

6. SGA discourages employees from taking leaves during the first three months after joining. However, this is treated on a case-by-case basis
7. An approved leave in excess of the leave balance in a calendar year will be treated as LWP. Such leave may be allowed only at the discretion of the management and would require specific prior approval of the concerned supervisor or the skip-level manager

9. To avail a half-day leave the employee is required to work for a minimum period of 4.5 hours and should intimate the immediate supervisor or the skip-level manager
10. Full day is considered only if an employee works for more than 7 hours in a day, however an employee should ensure to maintain an average of 9 hours in a salary cycle period
11. The leave balance will not be rounded off

Example: if an employee has a leave balance of 5.25 days, he / she will be eligible to take a leave of 5 days and the remaining 0.25 will be carried forward. An employee cannot avail a leave for 5.5 days by rounding off
